

Atlanta. U.S. POST OFFICE AND COURTHOUSE, 76 Forsyth St., 1908-1911, James Knox Taylor, architect. Granite, brick on courtyard walls; 5 stories, U-shaped, hipped roof, slightly projecting main entrance section with 3 round arched doorways and 7 round arched window bays illuminating interior courtroom space, classical details include pediments over windows, complete entablature, and anthemion motifs at the roof level, decorative panels, rusticated ground floor. Second Renaissance Revival. Federal/GSA.